GRAHAM ARNOLD

This monograph is a specific homage to an important English artist. Graham Arnold, the senior member of the Brotherhood of Ruralists, was a man of complete integrity, vital intellect, humanity, but above all a true visionary in the great tradition of British Pantheism. Arnold's formidable sense of design, the prismatic use of colour combined with fine draughtsmanship, gives a vitality to his art seldom seen since the dominance and excessive machinations of “modernism”. His is the work of a master.

This volume, a tribute to a much beloved artist, is to be given to the major museums and libraries therefore making the vision of Graham Arnold more accessible to a wider public.
